

Real-Time Status Boards

To effectively deploy resources during an emergency, up-to-date information regarding the status of various resources must be easily accessible in real-time to all emergency responders who need the information

Emergency responders need to be assured that all available resources for responding to an emergency have been accounted for and are being deployed in the most efficient and effective manner possible. Out-of-date resource information can severely hamper emergency response since valuable resources may not get deployed where they can be the most effective. Previously, status boards were typically maintained on whiteboards, which made it difficult to share information and produced information lag time since updated information could not be immediately disseminated. Authorized OpsCenter users can immediately update the status of any managed resource and can be assured that their up-to-date status information is immediately available throughout the EOC.
